Dear Air Board-

I moved to Alexandria in 1948 after I left the Navy. I have been married for 62 years and I am retired. I'm writing this letter to express my opinion about the Potomac River Generating Station. The Potomac River Generating Station is necessary for back up energy in the Washington, DC region and it would be a mistake to close them.

Stack merging is not a bad thing. If anything, it's an improvement for the air quality. The City Council has been fighting this for a long time and it's costing the taxpayers a lot of money. Allowing Mirant to move on with this stack merge project would not cost the taxpayers a dime, as Mirant has agreed to pay for the entire project. I have not found a reason why the city of Alexandria is against it.

The Potomac River Generating Station has a lot of support. It should be able to generate the energy needed to supply the demand. We deserve to have cleaner air to breathe in Alexandria! Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
